FOREWORD

The capacity of any nation to accomplish and sustain a conventional way of life is reliant on the degree to which it can employ science, technology and innovation (STI) for its particular needs in this epoch of globalization. Additionally, the augmentation of competitiveness on international level is solely dependent on the inclusion of STI in all disciplines including academia, industry, and business.

Regular qualitative and quantitative assessment of publicly funded research is beneficial to determine the efficiency of management of public funds, in addition to serving valuable data for policy/decision makers. Appraisal of scientific work entails the consideration of four chief elements namely quality, volume, impact, and utility of research.

In the course of last two decades, Pakistan Council for Science and Technology (PCST) has published eight directories on the subject "Productive Scientists of Pakistan (PSP)". Owing to the limited human resource, manual collection, and assessment of data is an arduous and lengthy task. Along with this, a chance of human error may prevail in the directory regardless of all attempts. To encounter these concerns, PCST has recently automated PSP along with the establishment of online data submission and evaluation system. The system is expected to maintain precision and transparency in the program and exhibit zero-error rate. Although data are verified manually, the system has decreased the manual work required in data entry. Hence, PCST is able to present the next edition of PSP in less than a year, as opposed to 3-5 years in the past. In this 9th study, the data of 4154 applicants are incorporated, which represents the highest number of scientists registered so far, reflecting the trust and ownership of the scientific community. In this study, the life-time achievements in scientific research up to 2016, of productive scientists working in public/private sector universities, colleges and R&D /S&T organizations are reviewed.

Since no single parameter used for research evaluation can truly reflect scientific profile, we have included extended range of indicators for evaluation of quality and quantity of research, such as publications in international journals along with cumulative impact factor of respective journals and citations of papers including total citations, h-index and citations per article, authorship of books, grant of patents, research supervision at the PhD level, competitive research grants won, together with component of innovative/applied research. Ten percent weight-age goes to the innovative/applied research component which includes medical products/devices/diagnostic kits/equipment and engineering designs/processes/products etc., in addition to crop varieties. It is a very important part of PSP, the impact of which will be seen in the next few years to come. The system allows direct access of public to the complete scientific profiles of all registered scientists available on PCST website; hence this Directory with authentic information enjoys full credibility and has been used as a valuable source of information by decision makers for different purposes, such as appointment and promotion of scientists as well as for different awards and fellowships.

In the last directory (PSP-2016), the weight given to impact factor and citation was equal (30 % each). In view of the international trend, giving more value to the citations, the weightage of impact factor has been reduced to 20 %, while the value of citations further increased to a total of 40 %, which include total citations, h-index and citations per article; this will encourage scientists to focus on quality rather than quantity of publications. Based on the feedback received from the scientific community, the benchmarks for different parameters are rationalized by using mean of the highest score in each subject category. Scaling is applied in a way that anyone scoring higher than the mean benchmark shall be given 100 % of that parameter. The criterion of divisibility, restored in the last edition will continue, which would discourage the practice of ghost authorship in research publications. Similarly, separate ranking of young scientists introduced in the last edition will continue.

I am grateful to Rana Tanveer Hussain, Federal Minister for Science and Technology and Mrs. Yasmeen Masood, Secretary for Ministry of Science and Technology for their continuous encouragement, support and guidance to our endeavors to acknowledge and encourage quality research in Pakistan.

I wish to acknowledge the dedicated efforts of scientists and supporting staff at PCST including Dr. Saima Nasir, Officer In-charge Research Evaluation Section, Mrs. Jamila Ahmed, Ms. Javeria Qadir, Mr. Tanzeel Rehman, Mr. Fayyaz Ahmed and Mr. Naeem Afzal. Their devoted efforts are highly appreciated.

INTRODUCTION

Pakistan Council for Science and Technology (PCST) is the only organization that maintains a national database of productive scientists of Pakistan. These data organized by PCST, along with the numerical scoring of scientists, are widely employed by R&D organizations and Universities/ Institutions for keen assessment of potential candidates with respect to appointments and promotions. Moreover, these data are also made available for medals, awards and nomination of prestigious scientific bodies on request of MoST and other concerned agencies.

From this comprehensive data, in the course of last two decades, PCST has published eight (08) directories on the subject of scientific research evaluation. The 9th study (PSP – 2017) has been completed recently, which includes the life-time research profile of 4154 scientists, including engineers and health professionals employed in public / private sector universities, colleges and R&D organizations categorized in different subjects from beginning of their career up to 2016. It is to be mentioned here that application for the PSP is voluntary in nature and the data reflected in the directory are provided by the applicants through online application process. It incorporates a wide range of indicators for assessment of both quantity and quality of research and its impact. The number of registered scientists has considerably increased if compared to 3268 scientists in the previous directory.

This document provides complete information on the productive scientists of Pakistan and is based on a credible and transparent process, using a wide range of bibliometric parameters with ownership both in the scientific community and the Government (details of individual parameters of profile of each scientist shared openly at the PCST website and accessible to public before final publication). The PSP – 2017 is based on the revised criteria covering a wide range of parameters, which include authorship of books, PhD research supervision, cumulative impact factor and citations for the papers published in impact factor journals, citations per article, h-index, patents granted, awards and competitive grants won. Additional parameters under innovation/ applied research output i.e. Crop Varieties / Engineering Processes / Medical Devices etc. are also taken into account for scientists and engineers involved in the applied research.

The criteria for this evaluation are devised and reviewed by a national level committee comprising eminent scientists with representation both from academia and R&D organizations as well as from the Ministry of Science & Technology (<http://www.pcst.org.pk/psp.php>). The evaluation and finalization of this life time research output of scientists has been achieved through many steps and in consultation with experts. A sub-committee of experts peer reviewed “Books (Published/Edited), Awards (National/International) and Applied Research Output (Medical and Engineering)” component for the Directory of Productive Scientists of Pakistan (PSP) to finalize the claims made by the applicants.

The draft of the directory 2017 was made available for review on PCST website on December 15, 2017 for verification of data by the applicants before the final release of the document and this directory contains the information based on the available data provided by scientists of various R&D/S&T institutions and universities of Pakistan till December 22, 2017. The data not meeting set criteria and/or having no documentary proofs has not been included.

The weightage for different research areas under the revised PSP criteria is as under:

Parameters	Percentage
Cumulative Impact Factor	20%
Citations	40%
▪ Total citations	15
▪ h -index	15
▪ citations per article	10
Patents Granted	5%
Ph.D. Supervised	5%
Books Published / Edited	5%
External Research Grants	10%
Applied Research Output/Innovation	10%
Awards	5%
Total	100%

Benchmarks for different parameters are rationalized using the mean of the highest scores in each subject. Scaling is applied in a way that everyone scoring higher than the mean benchmark has been given 100% of that parameter.

The mean benchmarks are given below for ready reference:

S.No	Parameter	Mean Benchmark* (Highest Score)	Percentile Score
1.	Books	106.34	5
2.	Patents	18.81	5
3.	PhDs	173.19	5
4.	Grants	121.94	10
5.	Publications	-	60
	i. Impact Factor	276.11	20
	ii. Citations	2691.54	15
	iii. h-Index	47.89	15
	iv. citations per article	157.26	10
6.	Innovation/ Applied Research Output	11.21	10
7.	Awards	36.22	5

Score of applicants is calculated after applying divisibility. For example for Cumulative Impact Factor (IF) of an applicant, the IF of each journal is obtained from the Journal Citation Report (JCR). IF of each paper is calculated by dividing journal impact factor by number of authors e.g. If a paper having 2 authors is published in a journal with impact factor 3, the Divided IF is $3/2 = 1.5$. The divided IF is summed up for all the publications of applicant and is Author Impact Factor.

An applicant can assess his/her own score for any parameter by dividing his/her score by applying the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{Percentile Score}}{\text{Mean Benchmark Score}} \times \text{Score of Applicant}$$

e.g. for awards, if the applicant's score is 40 then $5/36.22 * 40 = 5.52$

All possible efforts were made by PCST to contact scientists by emails/phone calls for data collection through online system as well as through their CVs along with proof of their credentials. However, if some scientists could not provide complete information for the directory, their data may not be complete. The draft data was made available for review to the applicants before final release of result, so PCST bears no responsibility for any missing/incomplete data or any error in the spellings of name, designation or present institutional address of any applicant.
